Interrogator-Chaplain Seraphicus

Special editions of Dark Vengeance include Interrogator-Chaplain Seraphicus, a bonus Citadel miniature that can be included in the Dark Angels army for missions 5 and 6.

Interrogator-Chaplains are terrifying and sinister figures, garbed in black power armour as befits such bringers of death. They are the spiritual leaders of their Chapter, renowned for their dedication and purity of spirit. Interrogator-Chaplains are revered by all of the battle-brothers, inspiring them to perform acts of selfless heroism and valour.

In battle, Dark Angels Interrogator-Chaplains are utterly resolute and never flinch from danger, whatever its source. All Chaplains wield a crozius arcanum, both a badge of office and a lethal weapon of battle. For extra protection, they bear a rosarius, an ancient device that generates an energy field able to withstand even the strongest attacks.

'As our bodies are armoured with adamantium, our souls are protected by loyalty. As our bolters are charged with death for the Emperor's enemies, our thoughts are charged with wisdom. As our ranks advance, we carry with us our devotion, for are we not Space Marines? Are we not the chosen of the Emperor, his loyal servants unto death?'
